Have you ever wondered how acupuncture works or how it might benefit your horse? Dr. Ashley Kornatowski has her certification in this alternative modality and has been very excited by the results she has seen over the past year! She'll be explaining the history of this treatment as well as going over conditions that my benefit from it. Many owners also choose to combine acupuncture and chiropractic together during the same session! Learn how these two alternative therapies compliment each other!

Twin Pines Equine is graciously donating their time to CDCTA for this event. In return, CDCTA is requesting that a monetary donation be made to Twin Pines Equine's charity of choice, Equitarian Initiative. The Equitarian Initiative prepares volunteer veterinarians worldwide to deliver health care and education to improve the health, nutrition, productivity, and welfare of horses, donkeys and mules, and to empower their care providers for sustainable change. Drs. Ashley and Matt Kornatowski have traveled with the Equitarian Initiative as volunteer veterinarians helping equids in developing countries.

Cash and check donations will be accepted at the door.
